Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Particularly in that dispensation, a future dispensation was foreshadowed: when Nicodemus asked Jesus how can these things can be, the Lord answered, if I being here now in your midst told you of earthly things and you believe not, how shall you believe if I tell you of heavenly things? (In other-dispensation-words, first things first: there is a simple reason you have not yet even comprehended who it is standing here talking with you.) Though it is never stated literally, this book leads us to the heart of the issue which has been omitted in any known application on the doctrine of Christ since the writings of Moses. Jesus Christ would not address it because he could not give testimony of himself but simply implied that we would after that he had gone back to the Father. In the early Church s dispensation they had the advantageous sensational nearness of the advent of when Jesus Christ walked among them, as well as the lives, witnesses and convictions of the apostles which were chosen by him. Perhaps it would be in a time thereafter that he referenced: but the time will come when the bridegroom will be taken away: then shall you mourn. Notice, as Jesus said to Thomas, you see me in the time of the actual advent and believe but, blessed are they who have not seen in a privilege such as yours and still believe. That latter type of believing is accomplished by a simple fundamental station in life as was pointed out by Jesus to Martha concerning Mary; and again in another place, made clearer, he said if you had believed Moses than you...
